Hey! So here are some images of another garage warehouse that's right by us. We are literally doing the same thing as this neighbor. There are more too but I forgot to get a picture before I left town. There's also some images of other houses around us that just show there's no uniformity out there or necessary upkeep. Our house is brand new and the garage we really are increasing property values, not making the area worse. It's just a dirt road with all kinds of random houses out there. People with stuff scattered on their property, roofs that need replacing etc. We really just want a big garage on our 5 acres for our 5th wheels and boats for storage on our land instead of just leaving them uncovered. We are improving our land by adding this garage, and keeping our lot clean and well kept. Thank you!!

Thank you so much,
